

Inclusive Teaching and Learning (ITL)

DATE: 5TH - 30TH SEPTEMBER 2022

This course highlights the skills, attitudes and values that teachers need in order to develop as effective practitioners, able to support learners with diverse needs. It takes as a starting point the fact that inclusive teaching is the responsibility of all teachers, not just those with special training, and draws heavily on the UNICEF 'wave model' for inclusive education. The course is practice-focused, and task-based giving participants the opportunity to apply new concepts to their own teaching and to reflect on their practice with other participants. The tasks encourage participants to draw on their own experience and plan for their own development as an inclusive teacher. They will be encouraged to collaborate with others on course forums and in their workplace, and there will be opportunity to assimilate new learning and apply the ideas to practice settings. The course will leave participants with a 'toolkit' of resources and ideas that will support their further development.

Level	Introductory
Duration	4 weeks
Delivery mode	Online at https://www.mooc4dev.org/itl
Time commitment per week	3 - 4 hours
Technology requirement	Internet enabled device
Language of instruction	English
Target audience:	Teachers in the primary or secondary phase, school leaders, teacher educators in colleges or universities, government officers responsible for professional development for in-service teachers
Additional information	This course is a pre-requisite for 'Creating an Inclusive School' (CIS)
Course details	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Inclusive teaching 2. Learner-centred education 3. Everyone can do something ... supporting inclusive teaching 4. Developing your teacher's toolkit
Certification	Certificate of Completion will be issued to successful participants
Registration	https://www.mooc4dev.org/itl
Contact	Email: ITL@colfinder.org
Website	https://www.col.org/education/teacher-education/ ; www.kise.ac.ke